

Productive Technology for the Commercial Enterprise

EffectivIT's Productivity Suite has been designed to bring robust IT solutions to the aid of small to medium sized firms engaged in commercial practice. The Productivity Suite is a combination of hardware, software, consultancy and remote management of the system.

The Scene Today

Crashes and Virus Attacks: These are more frequent than they should be in a commercial office where records are important, and where, access to records should be dependable and immediate.

Power Cuts: These prevent access to the computer when you need access. Your UPS keeps it going for 5 - 15 minutes but power cuts persist for hours.

Pirated Software: Significant time is spent either dealing with virus attacks or trying out the latest pirated version to find the right software. A commercial enterprise has more important things to do.

Managing Computers: It is often difficult to justify the cost of a computer professional, either full or part time. However, even that may not provide the immediate help that is sometimes needed.

The Blue Screen of Death: This has become an icon for complex but unreliable, energy hungry machines whose latest offerings appear only to lower our productivity and increase our costs.

If all this sounds familiar, then you need to look at the Productivity Suite.

The Productivity Suite

If you need solutions to the problems above and also need:

- ♠ between three and thirty workstations to create a productive environment in an office, so that it remains available during power cuts lasting several hours,
- ♠ an environment that is essentially virus free and crash free.
- ♠ the capability to record incoming telephone messages when the phone is unattended and send them to the intended recipients email account for listening to at their leisure.
- ♠ to be able to search thousands of documents for a word or a name and access the right one within seconds.
- ♠ to allow each station access to email and the internet using a single dial-up or cable modem
- ♠ data to be backed up automatically every day or every week just by putting a new CD in the CD-writer when the system sends you an email reminder.
- ♠ the capacity to fax your documents to the client directly from the computer.
- ♠ freedom from pirated software
- ♠ to log on to your account from any machine in the office with full password based security and access your documents, scanner and printer over the network without buying a network version.

- ♠ to make some directories inaccessible to some users.
- ♠ to have your desktop come up within seconds rather than minutes.
- ♠ to have a desktop that is four times the size of your screen, so you can switch from one task to another in seconds.

If you want all this + pay less + get robust hardware + piracy-free software to fit your needs + you want your system managed for you, then:
The Productivity Suite = Your Solution.

Consultancy, Management and Maintenance

The efficiency of the Productivity Suite is complemented by a program of consultancy where EffectivIT will work with you and your staff to determine the best way to set up the system, identify the most appropriate applications and provide the limited training where needed to allow your office to get up and go.

We want our work to help you to do your work. Most importantly, you will be able to do it more economically and more effectively. To enter a new world of Affordable Productivity call or email EffectivIT.